

CALL FOR PAPERS
The Journal of Global Drug Policy and Practice
<http://www.globaldrugpolicy.org/>

The Journal of Global Drug Policy and Practice is an international peer-reviewed journal with the goal of bridging the information gap on drug policy issues between the medical-scientific community, policymakers, practitioners, and the lay public. Our intended readership includes clinicians, clinical researchers, policymakers, prevention specialists, and other persons interested in understanding drug policy issues or in providing drug policy recommendations. The Journal of Global Drug Policy and Practice is a joint effort of the Institute on Global Drug Policy and the International Scientific and Medical Forum on Drug Abuse.

The theme of our next issue is, Substance Abuse in Our World: Then, Now and Future, and the possible subject areas include, but are not limited to:

- The social, medical and economic effects of marijuana legalization
- Demand reduction vs. harm reduction
- Reducing the incidence of substance abuse: Historical examples and future possibilities
- Substance use and co-morbidities
- Physiologic and clinical aspects of the new synthetic drugs
- Current and new directions of addiction treatment
- The impact of substance abuse on the brain and body

The guidelines for authors are attached. You may write a new article, republish work that is previously published, or even a combination. All manuscripts must be prepared in English. The deadline for submission of your article is May 27, 2013, in order to be considered for publication. A letter of intent is recommended and should include the working title or subject, plus the anticipated submission date. Please submit your letter of intent and paper, via e-mail, to the following address:
